Subject: Not judging any experience as unjust

Good day all. From our human perspective we think we know it all ~ and especially when an experience unfolds before our eyes, we believe we can judge whether the experience unfolding is one that is just or unjust. But can we? And should we judge whether an experience unfolding is one that is just or unjust? For our Father in Heaven Himself only knows whether each experience is served with just cause. And we know every experience is served with just cause, for our Father declares, "You shall reap what you sow" ~ so let no one be in doubt what we see unfolding is the reaping of the sowing of the past laid out. Amen. And may you all be blessed in our Father's love and grace.
